

Brooks Tree Care was created 40 years ago by Arborist, Peter Brooks.

In his passion for all things outdoors, along with his scientific knowledge, artistic & creative instinct and his bold sense of adventure. Climbing 200' Eucs was his idea of a good time.

While out & about, he was disturbed by the poor quality of tree trimming he was seeing all across Marin County back then.

So, he set out to do something about that.

Peter is an excellent teacher. There are many Arborists throughout all these years, here in Northern California, who learned their professional climbing & pruning skills from him. Peter learned his craft through the Tree Climbing Crew, an elite training program at The Marin Conservation Corps from some very amazing teachers there.

Peter is very proud of his son, Chad, who is a 4th generation Tiburon native and has chosen to walk along side him, often leading the way these days, on the path of trees.

When not in trees or gardens, Peter spends his time sculpting large, tree planters, doing stone work for fun, cycling, hiking, fishing, pruning Bonsai, and rock or mushroom hunting. Having family parties brings him great joy. He also digs going out dancing with his wife, Kimi.

You may see Peter around doing estimates on one of the very first original mountain bikes born here in Marin, his 1979 Trailmaster, designed and built by friend, Eric Koski of The Cove Bike Shop family in Tiburon. Peter was a frame & parts tester for Trailmaster back then. And, as hard as Peter tried, he just could not break them.

Peter now, and riding (his Spitfire klunker) in Crested Butte, Colorado on the Pearl Pass Ride, 1980 with Eric.
